Accessibility and Inclusion

All enrichment opportunities are carefully planned to ensure they are accessible and inclusive for every child. When planning activities and selecting trips, individual needs are considered, including physical accessibility, sensory sensitivities and medical requirements. Where appropriate, individual risk assessments are completed to identify any necessary adaptations or support.

Adaptations may include choosing suitable venues, modifying activities, increasing staffing levels or providing additional adult support. In some cases, enrichment experiences are brought directly into school through a range of visiting professionals and specialists, such as artists, musicians, sports coaches, scientists, historians and other community experts. This approach brings learning to life within a familiar, supportive and inclusive school environment, enabling all children to engage confidently and meaningfully. We work closely with families, staff and external providers to ensure that all pupils are able to participate safely and fully in the experiences offered.
